LIZA GROBLER

(b. 1974 Cape Town, South Africa)

'Reality is always shifting and, as an attempt to make sense of it, so am I.' – Liza Grobler

After many years of living in Cape Town city centre, Liza Grobler now resides in Oudtshoorn in the Klein Karoo. As a compulsive constructor of alternative landscapes and realities, she explores ideas that bring together physical and psychological spaces and historical and ecological scapes. Her practice is built around process; creating a tension between the materiality and ephemerality of media. She invites the viewer to take a leap of faith and step into these constructive worlds alongside her.

Grobler is the recipient of a KANNA Award for her Visual Contribution to the Klein Karoo National Arts Festival (2023). In 2022, she was awarded the Centre Luigi di Sarro VAA Award (Italy) for her short film 'Voices from a Divided Fountain'. In 2016, she was a recipient of the Africa Centre Award and Iziko Museums commissioned a site-specific work for the exhibition 'Women's Work' at the South African National Gallery.

Other career highlights include: a solo exhibition at Rauma Art Museum, Finland (2024), a solo project for Cape Town International Art Fair (2017), a commissioned public artwork for Cape Town International Design Capital (2015) and the screening of her short film 'Voices from a Divided Fountain' as part of a travelling exhibition in Serbia (2019). Two other films, '21st Century Family Portrait' and 'Diary of a Nanosatellite', were respectively screened at the ADDIS International Video Arts Festival (Ethiopia & Cape Town) and at MOFO for Forever Now (Tasmania and Deep Space, 2015). She was nominated for The Norval Sovereign African Art Prize (2021+22), Helgaard Steyn National Award for Contemporary Painting (2015), as well as short-listed for the Commonwealth Arts and Craft Award (2006). She has attended residencies in Norway, Finland, Switzerland, Serbia, Belgium, France, Mexico, India, the United States and initiated an interdisciplinary international residency in Cape Town and Richmond, South Africa (2017).

Grobler has been invited to the Asian international Art Biennial in Bangladesh which will take place in 2025, and she is Festival Curator for the KKNK for 2025 - 2027. Exhibitions include solo exhibitions in South Africa, Finland and Belgium and various international art fairs, site-specific projects and group exhibitions. She is represented by Everard Read (Cape Town, Johannesburg, Franschhoek, London).
